Our Mission, Your Opportunity

Our Mission -

In Canada and around the world there have been many advances in our understanding of trauma. We are learning and accepting how the brain, the body and emotions are connected. We are learning new ways of approaching trauma. As Grounding Trauma grows in size and relevance we are excited about 2019. Grounding Trauma is Canada's best place to connect with people who share your passion for improving practice, delivering better services and reducing suffering. We are eager to welcome Canadian Mark Henick who will explore approaches to suicide prevention and suicide intervention through a lens of support, stigma and mindset. Mark is a game changer in the mental health innovation field.

At Grounding Trauma we want to propel change. You can be a part of it.
